

News Media Contact:
Dante Pistone, 702/295-6021
pistondc@nv.doe.gov

For Immediate Release:
April 11, 2016

NSTEC DONATES $10,000 TO UNITED WAY OF SOUTHERN NEVADA

LAS VEGAS, Nev. – National Security Technologies, LLC (NSTec), the management and operating contractor for the Nevada National Security Site (NNSS), saw its employees pledge more than $207,000 to the United Way of Southern Nevada for 2016. The company also made a $10,000 donation on April 8 – part of NSTec’s continued commitment to helping those who need it.

“NSTec employees care about our community,” said NSTec President Jim Holt. “While we do important work at the NNSS, we also generously give to worthwhile causes such as the United Way.”

NSTec routinely raises hundreds of thousands of dollars annually for United Way. Money pledged will assist United Way, its affiliated agencies, and other non-profits throughout southern Nevada. NSTec’s participation rate in pledging includes more than 75 leadership donors, or those who pledge a minimum of $1,000 throughout the year.

In addition to making contributions in the community, the United Way campaign also gives employees the opportunity to help co-workers through the NSTec Employee Crisis Fund. This money is used to meet employee’s emergency needs, such as rent payments, utility bill assistance and emergency airfare assistance.

(Photo: NSTec President Jim Holt (left) presents a check to United Way of Southern Nevada President and CEO Bob Morgan)

NR-16-0005

-30-